Prepare for Emergencies

Gov. Mike Easley has proclaimed September as “Ready North Carolina” Month to encourage citizens to take steps to prepare themselves for natural disasters and other emergencies. He urged every citizen to have an emergency plan and disaster supply kit, stressing that those who have plans and supplies will fare better during any emergency than those who do not.

Make sure your family has a plan in case of an emergency. Before an emergency happens, sit down together and decide how you will get in contact with each other, where you will go and what you will do in an emergency. Prepare an disaster supply kit for use during periods of an emergency.

To get a kit, make a plan and get informed about potential emergencies see <http://www.ready.gov/america/index.html>. This is the Ready America website that provides simple steps that can take that will make a difference in ensuring safety and well-being for you and your family.
